

STOW FAIR...

Stow Fair runs for one day in May, and another day in October every year, in the town of Stow on the Wold, in Gloucestershire. It is the biggest horse fair in the south of England. It is a horse fair attended by Romany and Traveller families travelling to meet up with old friends and conduct business, and is very similar to Appleby Fair.

It has existed as a fair for horse trading since 1476.

Many families bring their old restored wagons to show them. The picture above was taken at the Stow on the Wold horse fair.
